THE KING IS DEAD GEORGE V LONG LIVE THE KING EDWARD VIII

As a tribute to our late beloved Sovereign King George V assisted by His Noble Queen Mary and their family, it is our humble opinion they jointly made Britain not only a nation but a household which covers the whole Empire.

The respect and affection felt in all parts of the Empire and the world at large is amazingly a real thing as the King and character that commanded it.

SPORT FLASHES

The Chinook Intermediate Hockey Team suffered its first defeat this season when Youngstown took them for a ride on Youngstown ice Jan. 19th.

Youngstown took the lead early in the first period and in no time were they headed by Chinook. The score at the end of the first period was Youngstown 5, Chinook 2.

The second period saw Chinook, try as they would, unable to get the puck past the capable Youngstown goal keeper. The checking of Chinook hindered the Youngstown sharpshooters but the goalie didn't Youngstown, at the end of the period, was five up on the Chinook team.

It was a gloomy outlook for Chinook at the beginning of the third period, but they blazed heads up hockey to more than hold their own against their much heavier rivals. Play was for the most part within the Youngstown blue line, as had been the case for the greater part of the game. Chinook played four men rushes, scored three goals Youngstown collected two. Final score 9 5; Youngstown game

Chinook team need not be unduly criticized for their showing; for they played a much heavier team, consisting almost entirely of men; and were without their goal keeper. A defence player donning the pads. This weakened the team offensively and defensively. These handicaps to a considerable extent account for the high Youngstown score

After having had weeks of severely cold weather, on Tuesday the temperature moderated considerably. At the present time there is more snow on the ground than has been for years. The country roads are badly blocked.

The Ladies Card Club met Tuesday evening at the Hotel with Miss Jensen as hostess. Honors went to Mrs. J. Peyton and Madeleine Otto. The club will meet next week at the Hotel with Miss Kain as hostess.

Chicago Hog Prices Soar

CHICAGO, Jan. 7 (A. P.) — farmers, stripped of the production control and benefit payment program by the supreme court's invalidation of the United States Agricultural Adjustment Administration, today witnessed one of the most spectacular market price rises within the memory of veteran livestock men.

The big Chicago market was completely disrupted. Trading for a time was virtually at a standstill. Some commission agents, representing producers, demanded that the full $2.25 per hundredweight processing tax voided by the court be added to the market price.

In the confusion a few sales were put through at 50 to 60 cents higher than Monday. The early top soared to $10.25, representing a gain of 70 cents per hundredweight since the court's decision.

Other livestock markets reflected the sharp advance.

THE EVER-WIDENING WAVE CIRCLES, OR THE JUBILEE OF THE "LAST SPIKE"

The reverberation of the driving of the last spike of the world's greatest transportation enterprise has not yet ceased encircling the world in the interest of Canada and humanity in general.

CROP TESTING PLAN

Over 20,000 farmers' fields of wheat have been tested under the above plan during this past month. Some 6,000 samples graded "A," indicating they were sufficiently true-to-variety to be used for seed. Death Stalks The Highway

A recent announcement of the intention of the Federal department of transportation to conduct a campaign to reduce the annual toll of life and limb taken by automobiles and trucks on the highways and roads of Canada should be welcome news to all who use motor-driven power for business or pleasure. The campaign comes none too soon.

Statistics, just published, reveal that in the United States last year over 36,000 lives were lost by accidents in which automobiles and their drivers were the agents of death, in addition to an appalling number who were injured in greater or lesser degree. This means that, roughly, one out of every 5,555 persons in the U.S.A. perished by the automobile in 1935.

No doubt, when the figures are published, it will be found that the automobile accident death rate in Canada for 1935 was comparable to the American loss after allowing for the difference in population of the two countries and the lesser concentration of traffic. In 1934 the Canadian automobile casualty list totalled 1,108 deaths and 17,998 injured, some slightly.

Had 36,000 lives been snuffed out and hundreds of thousands injured in a single avoidable catastrophe in the United States last year, the nation would have gasped with horror. There would have been demands for investigation and the imposition of safeguards to prevent the possibility of recurrence of such an overwhelming catastrophe, but because these deaths and injuries represent nearly as many individual accidents, distributed throughout the year and scattered over a wide geographical area, it has been customary to dismiss them with a shrug of the shoulder and a comment about "some fool driver", except by the bereaved relatives and friends.

However, there are indications that citizens of the United States are becoming aroused at a condition of affairs which has become a national menace. This growing concern is largely due to efforts of government agents, corporations, police authorities and the newspapers, to acquaint the public with the facts and to drive home the risks which foolhardy and negligent motorists incur by their conduct on the roads.

Already, it is reported, that these efforts, supported by an aroused public consciousness of individual responsibility, is bringing results in sections of the country where intensive campaigns have been staged.

There is reason to assume that similar results can be achieved in Canada, if organizations and individuals will rally to the support of the authorities who have decided that the time has come when an organized effort must be made to minimize the hazards created by recklessness and carelessness.

Recklessness and carelessness, in the final analysis, are the two factors responsible for the great majority of deaths and injuries on the highways on this continent, on either side of the international boundary.

For many of the accidents that occur on country roads and city streets recklessness must be indicted, and very often criminal recklessness. In this category falls the driver who travels at greater speed than road, climate or traffic conditions warrant, the driver who passes other traffic near the crest of a hill or on a curve, the driver who cuts in front of another too soon and the driver who beats the train to the crossing.

With respect to the last-mentioned hazard it is interesting to note that figures just secured from the records of the board of railway commissioners show that in 1935, there were 242 automobile smashups at railroad crossings in Canada, resulting in the death of 114 and injuries to 304, an increase of 28 in the number of similar accidents in 1934, an increase of 33 in the number of deaths and 42 in the number of injuries.

Carelessness, too, must be marked up as the contributing factor for a large number of these accidents. It may be carelessness while the wheel is in the hands of the driver on the road. It may be carelessness in parking on a road in the dark with lights out. It may be negligence in failing to regularly and carefully inspect the brakes, the tires and the lighting system or in remedying defects when discovered.

And last but not least there is alcohol. Tests by medical authorities and scientists have demonstrated conclusively that the man carrying only a single drink is not as alert as he is normally without it and the man with several drinks inside him is a menace to himself, his passengers and those whom he meets or passes.

Alcohol, according to authorities, "plays a major part in the appalling list of accidents on this continent." This is recognized in the posters which are being prepared for distribution as part of the federal government's campaign to ensure greater safety to the users of Canadian highways, one of which reads: "If you must drink, don't drive. If you must drive, don't drink."

Strengthening Air Forces

Canada Buying Four New Planes For Coastal Defence

The air force defence of Canada is to be strengthened in the spring by four new "protection coastals" planes ordered by the Canadian government from the Blackburn Aviation Company of England.

The new machines are of the Shark class similar to those supplied to the British naval air services. The machines have an unusual lifting power so as to carry 1,500-pound torpedoes or an equal weight in bombs. They also carry equipment for aerial survey and photography and for artillery spotting and reconnaissance. A supplementary fuel tank slung in the torpedo crutches will give the machines a cruising radius of 1,000 miles.

The machines will be operated by the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Depends On Ancestors

The farm flock keeper is rarely if ever justified in keeping more power than to the end of the second laying year. But to keep them even that long without a death loss that cuts seriously into profits, it is essential to have flock ancestors that have laid numerous large eggs for three or more years.

French Query Service

Post Office Charges Different Prices For The Varying Questions

If you happen to be in France and want to know the date America was discovered, how to make good coffee or obtain a quick divorce, just dial S.V.P. on your telephone.

You will be answered by one of the employees of the new "If you please" service, just instituted by Georges Mandel, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, Paris. At any hour of the day or night, M. Mandel's encyclopaedians will reply. Ordinary questions are answered for a sum of 6 to 15 cents. Twenty to 30 cents are charged for more difficult queries, and special terms are made for a real "poser."

You can also have an errand run by a postoffice cyclist who will deliver you drinks, flowers and anything you like to any address. This will be charged for at the rate of 35 cents in the day and 70 cents at night.

It is expected that plenty of practical jokers will put delicate questions to the new service. But the better the joke, the higher the bill.

Synthetic Radium

Cornell University Builds Machine To Produce Rare Agent

At a cost of $5,000 Cornell University has a machine capable of making artificial radium as a substitute for the real stuff, which cost $40,000 a gram.

Completion of this machine, a cyclotron, the second of its kind in existence, was announced at Ithaca, N.Y. The Cornell cyclotron is already in operation.

The original cyclotron, a machine which uses a $200,000 80-ton magnet to produce 10,000,000 to 15,000,000-volt rays was made by Dr. E. A. Lawrence at the University of California.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people "round 40" think they're "growing old." They feel tired a "weak." Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity. When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all!

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Made in Canada.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each day's dose is the equivalent of one teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Victoria May See Bluenose

Captain Walters Considering Proposition To Visit Pacific Coast Bluenose, queen of the fishing fleets, may leave her Atlantic home at Lunenburg, N.S., next summer to visit Canada's Pacific coast for the first time.

Captain Angus Walters, skipper of the racing schooner, said he was thinking over a proposition from a Victoria sportsman for a Bluenose visit to British Columbia waters, but he hasn't made up his mind yet.

If he takes it up, the Pacific cruise will be Bluenose's longest voyage in her 13 years of fishing, racing and harvesting. Two years ago Captain Walters took her to the Great Lakes for the summer—her first taste of fresh water—and last year he went to England with her. That last voyage was the longest so far.

It came close to being Bluenose's last. On the way home she ran into a blow that almost sent her to the bottom and drove her reeling back to England for repairs that took three weeks.

But about the Pacific jaunt. "Well," says Angus, "I don't know. We'll have to sail six or seven thousand miles to get there. Anyhow, we'll see."

Bluenose is ready for the trip. After a thorough going over on her return to Lunenburg, she is as seaworthy and fast as ever, Captain Walters believes.

Pioneer Newspaper Woman

Faith Fenton, Who Wrote Of Yukon Gold Rush, Dies In Toronto

Faith Fenton, pioneer Canadian newspaperwoman whose accounts of the 1898 gold rush in the Yukon thrilled readers a generation ago, died at her home in Toronto after a brief illness with pneumonia. In private life she was Mrs. John M. E. Brown, wife of a well known physician of Toronto. They were married in the little log church at Dawson on the first New Year's Day of the 20th century.

Dr. Brown had gone in with the first civil commissioner of the Yukon and was the first secretary of that territory. Faith Fenton was there in a dual capacity. At the suggestion of Lady Aberdeen, wife of the governor-general, she joined the field force of the Victorian Order of Nurses. But she also had been commissioned to write articles for a Toronto newspaper.

She obtained permission from the government to remain in the Yukon to write. One of her most famous experiences concerned a hanging. It was scheduled for eight in the morning but the courier left for the south at seven. Faith Fenton wrote her story and sent it off.

Then it was remembered it was a saint's day, the hanging was postponed and finally called off. With the help of police she got a half-breed runner who caught up with the courier several days later.

Institution For Beggars

Scholars Taught The Correct Places

And Manners To Beg A "beggars' academy" has been discovered by the police of Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, the famous beer city.

An empty barn in the nearby village of Skvrnava was the seat of that institution which had two adult instructors and twenty-six boy "scholars."

The teachers told their pupils how to look miserable and "mained," and how to behave as "blind" and "dumb-and-deaf." Practical exercises were held, and crutches, bandages and other beggar's appliances were purchased at general prices.

Lessons were also given for writing begging letters, and instructions were given where and how the individual boys had to beg. The booty was handed over to the teachers, who retained one-half and distributed the other half among the boys.

New Torpedo Can Travel Four Times Farther Than Fastest Shell

An aerial torpedo, or flying projectile, which can travel four times the distance of the fastest shell ever known, is one of two inventions, which may revolutionize warfare.

It is the invention of a young man who, working unobtrusively in a laboratory at Queen Mary's College, London, England, is fast becoming recognized as the Marconi of the aeronautical world.

He is Phloze P. Nazir, aeronautical research student for the Government of India, who although only in his twenties, has already several astonishing inventions to his credit.

His researches make him a person of extraordinary interest to the representatives of other governments, many of which would be glad to know a few of the technical secrets which lie locked up in his brain.

The German Gig Bertha could send a shell only fifty miles.

Mr. Nazir claims that his flying projectile, travelling on its own fuel, without a pilot, could travel up to 200 miles at a speed of 300 miles an hour, and could be made to drop at any predetermined distance according to the amount of fuel placed inside.

This weapon would enable an air attack to be staged without warning.

Another far-reaching invention is a system of secret guns concealed in the tail of an aeroplane.

The guns are so arranged that immediately another plane comes behind within firing distance it is shot down before it has time to shoot.

A plane of this description, says Mr. Nazir, could attack a whole squadron and produce chaos among them.

The annual journey of the earth around the sun covers approximately 584,600,000 miles.

Study Cosmic Ray

Scientific Effort To Be Made To Penetrate Mystery

Dr. Arthur Holly Compton, University of Chicago physicist, and Nobel prize winner, announced the inauguration of world-wide scientific effort to penetrate the mystery of the cosmic ray.

He said he would leave for Vancouver, B.C., to install a cosmic ray meter aboard the S.S. Orangi as one phase of the observations, which will be conducted in widely-scattered regions of the globe.

The enterprise, Dr. Compton said, has two goals. The first was an explanation of the daily variations in the intensity of cosmic rays. The second was to find out whether the rays, powerful enough to go through 292 feet of lead, had greater intensity in the northern than in the southern hemisphere.

DO YOU NEED A BUILDER?

WHEN you're miserable and perhaps in need of a good tonic, weight below normal, and you feel tired-out and weak, follow the advice of Mrs. Francis Allcott of 242 Sackville St., Toronto, Ont., who remarked: "I want to praise Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a splendid system builder. I was of fine benefit to me to relieve stomach trouble such as indigestion and sour stomach, and served to tone up my entire system. This tonic gives me a fine appetite, too, and strengthens the whole system. I know of no better medicine for its purpose." They sell at drug stores. New size, tablets 50 cents; bottle $1.00. Large size, tablet, or liquid, $1.50.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pain of rheumatism or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

FLEMING'S FOLLY

— BY —
LAWRENCE A. KEATING

SYNOPSIS

Here is an absorbing and exciting story of a fight against suborned prejudice and a bitter personal malignancy—of a girl and a man battling selfishness, prejudice, bullets, and the treachery that would turn them against each other.

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

Roper Kilgo, the boss of the Rawhide and nearby ranges, who seemed to approve the plan, but was really opposed to it, had forced Soak Torrence, a devilish mining engineer, whom Kilgo knew would be called upon to give his expert opinion in favor of the scheme, to reverse his earlier endorsement, and declare that irrigation in Boone county so far as Hamilton's plan was concerned, was only a new-fangled way to waste money.

The meeting terminates, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Helen, Link Fleming and his sister, Helen, ask Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as he asserts, ruin the "spread." Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Buster Townsend, Link's foreman, is shot in the stomach, and Helen is injured. Buzz is arrested. The doctor attends Townsend and dresses his wound. Kilgo Roper suggests taking Helen to her home, but she refuses and Fleming escorts her home instead. This incident causes Roper to declare open hostility to Fleming.

Link and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties. Link goes home, and is surprised to find Kilgo there ahead of him. Kilgo tries to induce Link to drop his scheme, and when Fleming refuses, gives a signal by taking off his hat, and Link is shot at from outside the house.

Link kicks Kilgo out of the house. Buzz Hamilton is sentenced to three years' imprisonment for shooting Buzz Townsend.

(Now Go On With The Story)

Both men froze at the ringing command from Sheriff Ames Stephen. "We had enough gun-talk to-day," he remarked coldly. "What's the matter here, can't you men get along?"

"He called me a liar," Roper growled.

"He did distort the truth a bit, according to my views. Helen," Link went on directly, "are you heading out to the ranch?"

"Why—uh, I'd sort of planned going that way, Helen," Kilgo interposed, rubbing his jaw. She hesitated while the three men watched her. "Why yes, but there's something important I want to talk to Link about tonight slowly with a knowing grin. 'Shore, I savvy! I'll come over tonight and have a good talk. Remember what I told yuh, Helen."

"About trying to buy me out so as to protect her from my bad influence?" Link grinned. "That's stretching the truth too, Roper. There was a queer shooting scrape at my place that night—"

"Shootin'?" Helen exclaimed. "Nobody told me about it!" Ames Stephen growled.

"Probly some guy ridin' home drunk. Nobody got hurt." Fleming turned to him and bowed. "Thanks to poor marksmanship. Better get someone else next time, Roper."

He bristled again. "Are you tryin' to make out I put some guy up to it?"

Helen darted between the men, both of them rising to not anger again. "Stop! Why, Link, whatever possessed you? I've known Roper for years and I know he wouldn't have anything to do with an attempted murder. That is too much, altogether too much. Whatever you think of him, it's foolish to call a man a killer when you haven't the slightest proof. I—why, Link, I'm surprised at you!"

He stepped back in dismay. The suddenness of her defense of Kilgo brought a look of perplexity to the rancher's rather handsome face. Fleming avoided her accusing eyes. Seemingly he had overstepped himself. The heightening sense of trouble brewing, with Roper as his chief antagonist had, perhaps, caused him to be indiscreet.

"AW, Link, let's forget it. Come on, what do you say?" The other shuffled forward wearing a forced smile of friendliness. One hand was thrust out in the pretense of forgiving. Link eyed him an instant. Then his lids lowered and his voice sounded cold and controlled.

"That's just a grandstand play, and you know it. There's no friendship between us!" He turned on his heel and started off. But with a gasp Helen scurried after and seized his sleeve. "Link, please! Why not be friends? If you won't," she hinted with color draining from her cheeks, "I—I'm afraid you will have made a choice. Roper is a good friend of Buzz, and he has known Buzz and me longer than—you have. I mean, well, almost anyone who is a man is willing to forgive and forget. Are you trying to make trouble?"

He hesitated, unwilling to pretend comradeship for one whose face and words were a mere mask of his true feelings. But Helen's meaning was clear: she was insistent upon this handshake to restore peace. Perhaps she felt it her duty to bring them together on a new basis. Roper considered himself practically engaged to her. What was her real feeling about that?

A partnership in irrigation could not be successful unless there was harmony between them. And—Link's pulse sped faster—wasn't that genuine concern in the girl's eyes, concern for his well-being if he had an influential enemy in Kilgo?

He desisted himself for doing it, yet felt he must. Sheriff Stephen watched the tableau in silence. Fleming raised his hand, pressed Roper's briefly, then turned away. "Shall we start now?" he asked in a low tone.

As they rode off Link had an uncomfortable suspicion that somehow Kilgo had bested him in the scene. He cast a sidelong glance at Helen and found her uncommunicative. When they reached Rawhide and were walking their horses down its main street Otto Pieper emerged from his bank. He sighted the girl and beckoned.

"I'm sorry, but I forgot I'll have to stop and talk to Mr. Pieper. You see, I want to find out just what the condition of the Triple H is, how much money we have and all that."

He considered offering to wait, but felt instinctively that she might prefer to go on alone—or to have Roper, who rode with several other men a half mile behind, escort her home.

"By the way," Link said, drawing his buckskin near as she dismounted before the bank. "I don't want to press you about this irrigation business, but I'm wonderin' if you really want to come in with me. Maybe you'd like to think it over real careful, now Kilgo—er, folks are so set against it."

She tied her pony, then smiled at him from the sidewalk. "I've decided to go into it. And I never back out of a thing, Link."

His heart leaped. It was true that Triple H land adjoining his Star Loop spread would benefit the most, was the local outfit to club with him for the erection of a dam to back up Silver Creek.

"When can we get down to bed rock on this proposition?" he asked. "The thing should be started now so we'd get an alfalfa crop early next summer. If we wait till spring, it'll be that much longer for a return."

She hesitated, then spoke what was on her mind. "Link, I didn't want you to have more trouble with Roper—that's why I asked you to shake hands with him. I came with you now to say that. Perhaps you don't like him, but after all, he is a friend of mine."

He flushed and made no reply. "But I'll tell him not to come to the ranch to-night. You come, Link, and we'll talk over all our plans for irrigation. Why not come early, for supper?"

The Box 50 owner, Benson and Sheriff Stephen were dismounting a few yards away. Fleming felt, certain Kilgo had heard Helen's invitation. He could not restrain a thrill of triumph. "Fine, I'll sure be there!"

Turning his mount, he started at a brisk run for his Star Loop.

Pieper, he knew, would attempt to talk her out of participating in what the conservative banker now regarded as a "wildcat" scheme. Otto's habit was to believe what the majority of local citizens believed; he had discovered long ago that such a policy kept him in the good graces of influential men who might otherwise have ousted him from the bank presidency. Link hoped that Helen would not state her intention to Otto. As for Kilgo, he felt certain now the man could not persuade her out of the partnership.

Mr. CAFFEINE-NERVES finds out who is boss

MANY PEOPLE, of course, can safely drink tea and coffee. But there are thousands and thousands of others who cannot. And, without realizing it, you may be one of these.

The caffeine found in both tea and coffee may be working night and day to rob you of sleep, upset your digestion, and undermine your nervous system.

If you suspect that tea and coffee disagree with you... switch to POSTUM for 30 days. Postum is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened. It is a delicious drink—and contains nothing that can possibly harm you. It is economical and easy to prepare.

FREE—Let us send you your first week's supply of POSTUM—FREE. Write for it to Consumer Service Dept., General Foods, Limited, Coburn, Ont. H-35

Little Helps For This Week

Behold God is my salvation, I will trust and not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song. He also is become my salvation. Isaiah 12:2.

Still heavy is thy heart, Still sinist thy spirit down? Cast off thy weight, let fear depart, And every care be gone.

Go on in all simplicity; do not be so anxious to win a quiet mind, and it will be all the quieter. Do not examine so closely into the progress of thy soul. Do not crave so much to be perfect, but let your spiritual life be formed by your duties and by the actions which are called forth by circumstances. Do not take over-much thought for tomorrow. God who has led you safely so far will lead you on to the end. Be altogether at rest in the loving holy confidence which you ought to have in His heavenly Providence.

Must Worry Weaver

Evening Gown Covered With Thousands Of Tiny Mirrors

Six thousand tiny mirrors form part of a new evening gown of ink-blue cloth. The mirrors, which are faintly tinted with blue, were sewn on by hand. It took four girls five days to sew them on. The gown itself is simply cut, on long clinging lines, with a tiny train which must cause moments of intense worry to a superstitious owner—a clumsy escort walking on the train would mean about a thousand years of bad luck!

Correspondence

To the Editor;

Observer was rather surprised that the wanderings of his pen a few weeks ago prompted one of your readers to write what appears to be a history of the last war, or an account of the present campaign in Ethiopia, with his frequent reference to explosions and muzzle loaders etc. However I am not going to apologize for the cheesy article which seems to have offended his sense of the odierous personally. I am not responsible for its development, that has no doubt been caused by listening to recent radio broadcasts on the past Provincial Gov't record and also on coloured children. Your correspondent has covered an extensive range and apparently left the fence around his own half section intact. It seems as though the dam sight chosen has aroused his ire, or is it the sites chosen. In answer to his question re recipient, the Dictionary definition is, "one who receives but I have an idea that its word, "Indigent" he is more interested in, that is beyond my power to define. Municipal Councils and Governments are in the same position. A correct definition would go a long way in solving the relief problem in our rural districts. Observer has yet to be convinced that the old muzzle loader charged with facts and figures can be effective when fired at mass mentality or mass social ogy but it usually finds the mark when given individual thought. In regard to the taking of scalps I was under the impression the Big Chief took his own, in these more enlightened times apparently they are presented to him (this seems a very satisfactory explanation of the recent bye election in High River when he was elected without opposition), however in recent Municipal Elections in our cities and towns very few were taken, maybe its not so necessary to understand S. C. in local self government; and as in the past many a smart mouse has been trapped with a very small bait of cheese and it makes no difference whether Limberger or very mild Cheddar are equally effective and sometimes they become the prey of the Owl, the wise old bird, the more he saw, the less he heard.

Took More Time

The young lieutenant had been 30 seconds late on parade and was incurring the wrath of the C. O. later in the orderly room.
"I'm exceedingly sorry, sir," he apologized, "but I woke so late there was only but ten minutes to dress."
"Ten minutes," barked the Colonel. "Why, boy, I can dress comfortably in 10 minutes."
"Yes, sir," said the loot, innocently "but I wash, sir."

The Annual Meeting of the Colliholme Local of the U. F. A.

The Annual Meeting of the Colliholme Local of the U. F. A. was held on Jan 9th, at the home of W. W. Wilson.

The following officers were elected:

Pres. — G. Rav Robison
Sec. — J. J. Haggerty

N. D. Stewart, president of the Acadia Co-op, gave an interesting account of the recent Co-op Convention held in Edmonton.

The meeting endorsed the resolution passed by the trustees of the Acadia Co-op, that non members of the U. F. A. be allowed to purchase through the Co-op and participate in the dividends on the payments of 50 cents for the clerical work entitled.

Jay Robison was elected as delegate to the annual convention of U. F. A. to be held in Edmonton. The resolution that the U. F. A. abandon Politics Provincially received a lot of consideration, some of the members expressed an opinion that a Dominion wide organization non Political, would be more beneficial to the farmers, than the present system of Provincial organizations, however, the meeting decided to abide by the decision of the Annual Convention in respect to this very important resolution.

The meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the president.

Of Interest To Motorists

What was frequently urged up on the former farmer government of Alberta by motorists of the province has been done by the Aberhart government on its own initiative. Automobile licenses bought for the year 1936 will carry their possessors until April 1937 from which date the auto license year will correspond to the government's fiscal year.

Further interesting news from Edmonton is to the effect that in future yearly driver licenses will be required, and that they will cost one dollar. Heretofore a 50 cent driver license carried on indefinitely. So far as this change is concerned it will meet with little opposition while at the same time it will assure considerable additional annual income for the government.

Still another bit of news from the capital is to the effect that after due consideration the gov't has reached the conclusion it was too hasty in its announced determination to cancel the regulation which gives to farmers a rebate on their gasoline bills. It is not stated just what caused this change of mind, but it is a fair assumption that protests from farmer members of the Social Credit party had something to do with it.

Not, however, that this should have been necessary. This regulation was originally made as a deserved concession to the farming community, hard hit as it was by economic conditions. Those conditions, while somewhat better, are not altered to the extent that would justify annulment of the concession. Temporarily on the merits of their case it should be allowed to stand. Immediately agricultural conditions alter it should be removed.

No Argument

Two boys appeared to be in trouble.

"Here, what is the argument?" asked an elderly gentleman.

"There's no argument, sir," replied one of the young rascals. "We are in complete agreement. Billy thinks I am not going to give him half this apple—and I think the same."

THOUSANDS ILL IN WINNIPEG

Report 'Flu Sweeps Through Indian Reserves

(By Canadian Press)
WINNIPEG, Jan. 20 — Physicians in Northwestern Ontario and Manitoba today were fighting an outbreak of influenza which in 12 cases has developed into pneumonia and similar diseases to cause death.

With 5 per cent of Winnipeg's 300,000 population affected, the flu also was reported serious on Indian reserves and outlying settlements. Eight deaths have occurred in Winnipeg during the past two weeks.

Many Indians in the vicinity of Kenora, Ont., are affected, reports from Indian agents said. Similar conditions prevailed at Caribou, 150 miles northwest of Churchill, Man. Four native children died at Caribou, said Rev. L. F. Rowe, missionary in the district. Medical supplies have been sent out from Churchill.

CURLING NOTES
